

Light the Way: How Your Shine Shapes the World Around You

Julia Franklin is the Chief Learning Officer at Cephable, where she blends her expertise as a licensed speech-language pathologist and continuing education professional to foster inclusive community learning, innovation, and connection. A trusted consultant and subject matter expert in accessibility and technology—coupled with being a drumming fitness instructor in the community—she is passionate about helping people find their voice and rhythm in all areas of life, whether in communication, work, or play. She is excited to share more about how small moments of joy and connection create ripples of impact in our homes, workplaces, and communities. Through storytelling and interactive experiences, we'll celebrate the ways we shine—individually and together—because light grows when it's shared.
